International Student Teaching Spring 2015
Brazil, China, Costa Rica, Ecuador & Uganda

Hello Teacher Preparation Candidates TOSS Fall 2014 & Student Teachers Spring 2015:

The Bagwell College of Education, the EPP, and Kennesaw State University are committed to providing opportunities for global teaching and learning for education students. In an effort to prepare teacher preparation candidates to teach diverse populations of students in today’s classrooms, international student teaching study abroad placements are available Spring 2015 in international schools P-12 in Brazil, Ecuador, Costa Rica, Uganda, Africa, and Shanghai United International School in China, K-8.

When you are accepted to student teaching for spring 2015, if you wish to student teach in Brazil, China, Ecuador, Costa Rica, or Uganda, you may have that option to complete your 12 hours student teaching credits abroad. Global learning scholarships are awarded for $2000 for a student teaching semester abroad. HOPE applies for the tuition credits. Other scholarships are also available for international student teaching abroad.

Also if you have not already, and you want to student teach abroad, send your interest form for international student teaching in any of our programs offered Spring 2015. Interest forms and applications are on the international field placements website www.kennesaw.edu/education/ife for China, Ecuador, Costa Rica and Uganda. Brazil is a new program so just send an email of your interest.

You can send interest forms to bjiang@kennesaw.edu. You are also invited to information meetings on the following dates:

Wednesday, September 3, 2014, Kennesaw Hall 1101 – 11:00 am to 1:00 pm
Tuesday, September 9, 2014, Kennesaw Hall 1203 – 11:00 am to 1:00 pm
